Nahid is currently living in a learning disabilities supported accommodation flat as she was born with Down's Syndrome and as such she struggles with cognitive functioning and has a slight hearing impairment. Nahid has always been an independent woman and recently completed a part time college course in hospitality. Since the course finished, she has not had much to do during the day and is missing the people she met while studying. At 25-years-old, she now wants to move into paid employment and has started looking for jobs in catering.

In their recent care plan review meeting, Nahid's support worker was encouraging her to apply for a job in a local café as her first employment experience.

7. (a) Describe two of Nahid's needs. 2
- (b) Explain the benefits of person-centered care planning when working with Nahid. 3
8. Describe two features of a positive care environment. 4
9. Explain why accountability is an example of positive care practice. 3
10. Using one piece of legislation, explain how it can support a care service user to feel protected. 4
